EDITORIAL FOREWORD

The editor would apologize for the lateness of the appearance of this issue of SCOTTISH TRADITION, but the trouble has been that some who promised to write articles failed to produce, with the result we have had to go to press without their contributions. We hope, however, to make up for our tardiness at this time, by bringing the next number out right on time.

This year there seem to be many conferences on Scottish studies being held both in Canada and in the United States. Some of them are as follows:
MARCH 18TH, Saturday: Conference on Celtic Studies, Campbell College, Buies Creek, N. C. Contact: Prof. W. Conard Cass, Campbell College.
APRIL 6-8, Thursday-Saturday: Conference on Scottish Studies, Old Dominion University, Norfolk Va. 23508. Contact: Dr. Charles H. Haws, Old Dominion University.
APRIL 29TH, Saturday: Colloquium on Scottish Studies, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ontario. Contact: Prof. W. Stanford Reid, University of Guelph.
MAY 5-6, Friday, Saturday: Conference on Scottish Studies and Western North Carolina Historical Ass’n, Lees-McRae College, Banner Elk, N. C.

Contact: Prof. R. K. McMaster, Dept. of History, Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, N. C., 28723, USA.

JUNE 9TH, Friday, Conference on Scottish Studies joint meeting with Canadian Historical Association, program enclosed herewith.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FICTION AND EXPERIENCE IN THE WORKS OF SIR WALTER SCOTT
by Ian Campbell 1

SIR WALTER SCOTT AND EARLY CANADIAN NOVELS
by Elizabeth Waterston 14

THE HIGHLANDERS OF THE CAPE FEAR
by James D. MacKenzie 18

REVIEWS

Madeleine Bingham, SCOTLAND UNDER MARY STUART reviewed by W. Stanford Reid... 24

R. G. Eaves, HENRY VIII’S SCOTTISH DIPLOMACY, 1513-1524, reviewed by Alex MacGregor... 25

George Emmerson, RANTIN’ PIPE AND TREMBLIN’ STRING reviewed by J. Archibald McIntyre... 26